1. Looking at subgroup data, where is the greatest opportunity to make an impact?
2. Is the expertise in the subgroup population represented and involved so we fully understand the contextual and structural issues?
3. Does this group reflect the diversity of the community?
4. Are your strategies intentional in addressing disparities? Might your strategies inadvertently create greater health inequity in your community?
5. Have you considered the flow of money in the systems for the subgroup populations in your community?
6. How are all subgroups in the community represented in these decisions?
